

Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

	Response Count
	267
answered question	267
skipped question	2,902

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

1	if i went to one nearer but it has been surrounded in controversy last year.	Oct 22, 2012 3:20 PM
2	close christian friend to go with	Sep 23, 2012 1:03 PM
3	Have the church system by less strict	Sep 23, 2012 12:20 AM
4	Going with someone else	Sep 18, 2012 3:58 PM
5	Well, If there was a god, perhaps	Sep 18, 2012 8:02 AM
6	1) God somehow leading me to go to a church 2) Becoming friends with someone I can trust who attends a church	Sep 13, 2012 7:14 PM
7	more supportive pastor	Sep 13, 2012 2:26 PM
8	Someone to go with.	Sep 13, 2012 10:21 AM
9	more singles my age	Sep 12, 2012 3:07 PM
10	sound teaching,	Sep 8, 2012 3:07 PM
11	Different work hours More accessible church	Sep 4, 2012 11:27 AM
12	no	Sep 3, 2012 3:41 PM
13	end of current situation	Sep 2, 2012 5:44 PM
14	When the church preaches ding to self. especialy in marriage.	Sep 2, 2012 11:54 AM
15	To be able to use my musical talents	Sep 2, 2012 10:37 AM
16	n/a	Aug 31, 2012 6:25 AM
17	Finding a church where I feel comfortable	Aug 30, 2012 2:34 PM
18	A better connection with the congregation.	Aug 29, 2012 2:06 AM
19	More social groups at church. A warmer welcome for new visitors on the door. If a new to this church card is completed then there should be a response which involves personal contact. There should be more attempts made by people in the existing congregation to welcome new faces and get to know them.	Aug 28, 2012 12:39 PM
20	if they was an evening service	Aug 25, 2012 7:45 AM
21	a good family priest	Aug 21, 2012 5:51 AM
22	yes , a partner to motivate me	Aug 21, 2012 4:57 AM
23	with a friend	Aug 18, 2012 4:04 AM
24	If people tried to match make less and accepted that sometime people want to go to church to work on their relationship with God not with other people. I dont like feeling judged for being single. In the most part I am happy being on my own, but at church I feel like people are picking at my faults to explain why I am single	Aug 18, 2012 3:39 AM
25	More people in their 20's	Aug 17, 2012 3:01 PM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

26	A more vibrant up to date church	Aug 17, 2012 2:12 AM
27	only if my health was to improve drastically	Aug 16, 2012 6:55 PM
28	if I could find a church that is genuinely concerned with helping those in need without the ulterior motivation of evangelism and one which embraces the grey areas of life instead of trying to give an answer to everything	Aug 15, 2012 1:34 PM
29	A different Minister and/or a change to my working pattern. However, God is everywhere, I don't need to go to Church to talk to him, I talk to him all the time.	Aug 13, 2012 6:34 PM
30	If I could find the right church where people are genuine, don't judge others and condemn them with know real understanding of their circumstances (I am not talking about me but other people)	Aug 13, 2012 10:41 AM
31	Suitable men	Aug 13, 2012 7:49 AM
32	finding a church I like	Aug 5, 2012 1:05 PM
33	No.	Aug 5, 2012 5:32 AM
34	More emphasis on loving people as Jesus did less infighting about petty things. My church now is on the streets where we do outreach with prostitutes. I think that's where Jesus would be .	Aug 5, 2012 3:08 AM
35	... a job with a more conventional schedule.	Aug 4, 2012 2:17 PM
36	SOME TIMES I GET STUCK ON A CERTAIN PARRABLE SO I GO TO CHURCH AND AFTER THE SERVICE ILL HAVE A CHAT WITH THE PASTOR.	Aug 3, 2012 9:00 AM
37	not sure	Jul 31, 2012 1:06 PM
38	1) I attend weekly lunchtime services in Central London, short, focused, more comfortable; 2) Would go if I had supportive company - but admit I'd be there more for being with the other person than for being drawn to be part of a larger group or community.	Jul 30, 2012 6:00 AM
39	If I could find a local Church that doesn't look down on people who don't take Holy Communion I'd be delighted.	Jul 29, 2012 4:01 PM
40	Partner / friends / group = might try bell ringers	Jul 29, 2012 12:45 PM
41	Not completely sure	Jul 29, 2012 9:32 AM
42	I always feel awkward going to church on my own - and I am fairly shy so usually end up scuttling out at the end of the service to avoid awkward situations in the coffee room afterwards! Perhaps a new members area with people there to make people on their own feel more at home would be nice.	Jul 28, 2012 4:27 PM
43	If I figured out how to regain my faith	Jul 28, 2012 2:22 PM
44	Not currently no. Unless I moved areas and found a church to call home.	Jul 26, 2012 1:06 AM
45	No	Jul 24, 2012 8:58 AM
46	More involvement for my 12 year old. She was okay when she was cute and	Jul 21, 2012 4:15 AM didn't need muh more than a bible story and a crayon, but now there needs to more to keep her interest.

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

47	None	Jul 17, 2012 3:42 PM
48	If church was nearer.	Jul 17, 2012 2:27 PM
49	happy as i am	Jul 17, 2012 5:32 AM
50	I read scripture daily and keep in contact with others who do the same. I meet with people to pray and share my life and walk with the Lord. church is more than a building and a collection of people who meet under a certain roof.	Jul 16, 2012 1:05 AM
51	Not really just it clashes with work atm - if that were to change I would attend regularly	Jul 15, 2012 2:36 PM
52	people i know from Church.	Jul 15, 2012 1:45 PM
53	Church in a morning during the week	Jul 15, 2012 11:09 AM
54	I WOULD LIKE TO FEEL WELCOME AT A CHURCH AND MEET PEOPLE WHOM I CAN MAKE FRIENDS WITH AND WE CAN TRUST EACH OTHER.	Jul 14, 2012 3:49 AM
55	Finding somewhere I can fit in and that shares the same high view of God and the Bible that I do.	Jul 13, 2012 2:52 PM
56	If they talked to me and if it did not rub my nose in being single	Jul 13, 2012 8:53 AM
57	If there was a bigger church nearby that had great preaching and more events midweek and included more people my age and stage	Jul 13, 2012 12:14 AM
58	probably not	Jul 12, 2012 1:42 PM
59	none	Jul 12, 2012 8:53 AM
60	partner/friend to go with, singles group for same age ie older, a welcome	Jul 9, 2012 2:34 PM
61	Would have to gain new appointment	Jul 8, 2012 1:48 PM
62	to find a christlike church	Jul 8, 2012 12:47 PM
63	No	Jul 8, 2012 9:43 AM
64	If I got support	Jul 8, 2012 1:23 AM
65	if church was more like the gathering of the people of God rather than some bloke in front preaching at you then maybe I'd attend...	Jul 7, 2012 8:36 AM
66	If more of my friends aended more church.	Jul 7, 2012 6:55 AM
67	A warm welcome	Jul 6, 2012 9:36 AM
68	I attend regularly (almost every weekend). I visited other churches (4-5) in order to find out if they do something for single Christians and to find out if there are any singles there. My home church is big but doesn't do anything for single Christians and there aren't many there anyway. I would be more	Jul 6, 2012 2:05 AM involved in the church activities during the week if I knew there is an opportunity to meet at least a few single Christians there.

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

69	My Church is wonderful and understanding	Jul 5, 2012 6:33 PM
70	If I found one I wanted to attend regularly	Jul 5, 2012 11:30 AM
71	Open friendly church where singles get chance to mix with non-singles	Jul 4, 2012 2:57 PM
72	finding that 'home' church	Jul 4, 2012 10:52 AM
73	My sense is that I am out of step and the odd one. Family is the key focus or getting young people. I would like to see more intergenerational activities.	Jul 4, 2012 9:14 AM
74	not applicable	Jul 4, 2012 6:48 AM
75	more meetings during the week that fit in with shift patterns 6-14, 14-22, 22-6	Jul 3, 2012 2:47 PM
76	club at the church for 30 and 40 year olds	Jul 3, 2012 1:28 PM
77	stop travelling	Jul 3, 2012 10:15 AM
78	Not having other christians trying to explain to me why I am single.	Jul 3, 2012 7:28 AM
79	A short service with theological insights, communion and no singing.	Jul 3, 2012 1:15 AM
80	More people coming back to the truth of the Gospel and really loving their neighbours as themselves. More about the Gospel and less of a cosy little insulated social club that seeks to dominate and control its members. The pastors need to wake up and see what's really going on.	Jul 3, 2012 1:11 AM
81	no	Jul 2, 2012 4:18 PM
82	I have no need to attend more, my relationship with God does not consist of why I would go to church, really that would be more my relationship with God's people. If the church were empty would anyone go?	Jul 2, 2012 2:04 PM
83	More single people & an appreciation of the challenges we face	Jul 2, 2012 1:58 PM
84	A closer congregation god leads me too.	Jul 2, 2012 12:57 PM
85	I have just visited a new assembly and I feel positive about possibly attending there regularly, especially as they seem to have an exciting and modern approach to their Sunday School. This is is very important to me for my daughter.	Jul 2, 2012 12:41 PM
86	if made to feel included in things more -after church coffee mornings is a definate clique of couples only	Jul 2, 2012 12:27 PM
87	More singing	Jul 2, 2012 11:31 AM
88	Getting closer to and hearing from God.	Jul 2, 2012 11:13 AM
89	adf	Jul 2, 2012 11:11 AM
90	If I had more single friends that attended	Jul 2, 2012 11:08 AM
91	Informal relaxed groups meeting rather than traditional services	Jul 2, 2012 10:47 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

92	special events	Jul 1, 2012 4:42 AM
93	i feel theres too much emphsize on church ie sundays its the people who are the church if the church was to be bit more caring and folk took the time to ring me or see how am or ask if can do soemthing for me as right now my circumstances are difficult i care for my mother and its difficujlt to get to church	Jun 30, 2012 5:54 PM
94	No	Jun 28, 2012 7:44 AM
95	Yes am getting in touch with a church friend to give me lift to church	Jun 27, 2012 2:18 PM
96	Friends in church	Jun 26, 2012 2:52 PM
97	singles often totally ignored or chatted up by old men-----singles night the wofrld offers this bu churchest notNOT 2ND CLASS CHRISTIANS WE ARE NOT TO BLAME ,BUT BAD ATTITUDE TO US WE ARE THE VIETNAM IN THE CHURCH	Jun 26, 2012 9:39 AM
98	offer of a lift from a fellow christian - a small church bus! a date with - well - anybody - yes i really am that desperate folks !	Jun 24, 2012 3:36 PM
99	More steady work pattern and someone to go with.	Jun 24, 2012 3:25 PM
100	Somewhere I would feel at home. Comfortable, welcomed in a genuine way ie not seeking recruitment	Jun 24, 2012 10:07 AM
101	do you mean attend a SOLE church?"	Jun 22, 2012 3:45 PM
102	Someone else to go with!	Jun 22, 2012 8:58 AM
103	Once settled I will get involved with a local church	Jun 22, 2012 8:03 AM
104	In retirement	Jun 22, 2012 7:59 AM
105	Having someone to go with; more young people there; and if God actually showed some evidence that he loves me	Jun 22, 2012 7:38 AM
106	Not really. I think I need to be more motivated to get out the flat and go out to church.	Jun 22, 2012 3:37 AM
107	Only if more older single people went and I didnt feel so strange.	Jun 21, 2012 6:01 PM
108	n/a	Jun 20, 2012 1:25 PM
109	Lots more single people. better and more focussed teaching. needs to be more "normal" and less weird.	Jun 20, 2012 12:35 PM
110	The quality of the message, proximity of the church and the church leadership.	Jun 20, 2012 8:43 AM
111	Genuine fellowship; not being treated like a child because I do not have children of my own; people to share my situation with; services that were truly inclusive rather than every example coming from parenting / childhood. Finding a partner so that I didn't have to attend alone and was no longer single. Or some miracle of the soul wherein I no longer felt so empty that I can't handle the place.	Jun 20, 2012 8:15 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

112	Cannot presently think of any.	Jun 20, 2012 6:57 AM
113	better evening service as alternative worship service	Jun 19, 2012 12:10 PM
114	If things calm down and/or I retire from paid work (I am about 8 years away from retiring) and have more time so I can do the other media work in normal working hours	Jun 19, 2012 9:58 AM
115	If I had someone to go with	Jun 17, 2012 12:48 PM
116	I suppose the only thing will be God calling me to a particular church (which has happened in the past successfully but sadly not to last).	Jun 17, 2012 11:38 AM
117	Finding a suitable church	Jun 16, 2012 9:40 AM
118	Not taking medications but this will not happen unless I am healed	Jun 16, 2012 7:50 AM
119	End of degree	Jun 15, 2012 7:50 AM
120	Intend to return when I identify the right place	Jun 14, 2012 11:18 PM
121	A Girl	Jun 14, 2012 1:47 PM
122	A good 'xian woman who is interested in me	Jun 14, 2012 2:25 AM
123	Someone I know inviting me/ knowing people better at a church I would like to attend regularly (which I am yet to find!)	Jun 12, 2012 4:31 PM
124	when I find a church I fit with	Jun 11, 2012 2:49 PM
125	I'm not sure. Essentially I also have issues with God so sometimes the reasons for not going are more than struggling with being on my own.	Jun 11, 2012 12:33 AM
126	More people my age and more activities for my age group, perhaps more interchurch activities for that age group, especially singles.	Jun 10, 2012 1:33 PM
127	if there was more emphasis on drawing singles into the life of the church. setting of good eg from leadership.	Jun 9, 2012 3:57 AM
128	Its up to my employer, I have to work weekends on a rota basis.	Jun 8, 2012 2:55 AM
129	Going to church with a friend regularly.	Jun 7, 2012 7:30 PM
130	Groups/activities designed for people of my age. Young women's group. Other members of the congregation in the same/similar situation as me.	Jun 7, 2012 4:03 PM
131	more outward looking and less like a club and click	Jun 7, 2012 12:45 PM
132	no	Jun 7, 2012 8:59 AM
133	had a partener	Jun 6, 2012 6:02 PM
134	not sure	Jun 6, 2012 2:46 PM
135	Loads. Pastors being less patronising would be a start.	Jun 6, 2012 2:34 PM
136	I going 2 time on the week, and not go more becouse another one time is in the night	Jun 6, 2012 6:42 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

137	Being included more. Events that make it easier for a single person to attend.	Jun 6, 2012 1:55 AM
138	A church where I felt more appreciated, where I felt I had a peer group.	Jun 6, 2012 1:28 AM
139	I don't know	Jun 5, 2012 11:50 PM
140	interesting people my age	Jun 5, 2012 4:51 PM
141	Perhaps if I had someone to go with it would be easier	Jun 5, 2012 2:16 PM
142	Having spent over twenty years as a very active member in church, I'm taking things a bit easy whilst studying for a degree.	Jun 5, 2012 2:15 PM
143	Finding a church I feel at home in	Jun 5, 2012 1:16 PM
144	Better, frequent transport	Jun 5, 2012 12:21 PM
145	No	Jun 5, 2012 11:07 AM
146	Easier access (I am a wheelchair user and my local church has massive steps)	Jun 5, 2012 10:34 AM
147	none	Jun 5, 2012 10:30 AM
148	relevance to my life- uplifting experience, good teaching	Jun 5, 2012 10:29 AM
149	Cheaper parking	Jun 5, 2012 10:21 AM
150	If I could avoid feeling like an outsider all by myself, that would help!	Jun 5, 2012 10:02 AM
151	Knowing someone who went	Jun 5, 2012 9:56 AM
152	More God, less people!	Jun 5, 2012 9:54 AM
153	outdoor gatherings with inter church attendance	Jun 5, 2012 9:53 AM
154	Being relevant to society and issues single Christians face. Not just focusing on families and children - but singles	Jun 4, 2012 1:53 PM
155	transport provided more and buses to run earlier before 9-00 on a Sunday morning.	Jun 4, 2012 11:58 AM
156	The above.	Jun 2, 2012 2:04 PM
157	i don't know, moving away maybe	Jun 1, 2012 5:55 PM
158	They talked to me , they were more sensitive and inclusive	May 31, 2012 6:29 AM
159	If there was a decent church fellowship locally then I would.	May 30, 2012 3:18 PM
160	Short service at weekend, rather than long one with screaming children and babytalk sermons. Some way to engage with Christians during week in local area, without need to turn up on Sunday (when I am somewhere else)	May 30, 2012 8:26 AM
161	finding a local spirit filled church	May 28, 2012 7:43 PM
162	If I was able to sleep better on a night	May 28, 2012 11:08 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

163	more motivation	May 27, 2012 10:17 AM
164	not sure	May 27, 2012 9:02 AM
165	No	May 25, 2012 8:24 AM
166	commitment on my side and to feel part of the family again, i.e Church did feel like a family to me once. not having a family, no parents, siblings, children I found it hard when the St. Pauls wasnt there for me despite me doing so many activities to help the Church. I felt used and when I needed help they were not there for me. I think this would be a driving force for me...	May 25, 2012 3:50 AM
167	Fun activities for the children.	May 20, 2012 8:31 AM
168	A partner to go with possibly as church can be very lonely when you are single.	May 20, 2012 8:17 AM
169	Finding the right church.	May 19, 2012 5:15 PM
170	only if I settled down with friends and family in same area	May 19, 2012 2:43 PM
171	If I had contact with someone in the congregation/ministry team	May 19, 2012 12:47 PM
172	Hhh	May 19, 2012 11:13 AM
173	Maybe (getting married, first holy communion, rebirth, relationship blessing and christening)	May 18, 2012 8:17 PM
174	Single attractive 20 something females? ;)	May 16, 2012 9:52 AM
175	If the church start standing for what is right and not be too PC. If people that profess to be Christian start acting as such. And not look too depressed and stand off ish	May 16, 2012 7:51 AM
176	I'm not sure.	May 15, 2012 3:50 PM
177	A more socialable job!!!	May 14, 2012 3:13 PM
178	yes, when I find a suitable christian partner.	May 12, 2012 8:49 AM
179	Having less work.	May 12, 2012 7:42 AM
180	cover for care, christian cafe, music events	May 11, 2012 11:47 AM
181	find a local church i'm comfortable with	May 10, 2012 1:40 PM
182	At this stage, that is unlikely - my issues which church are more to do with the fundamental function and role of church, as opposed to church activities.	May 10, 2012 6:55 AM
183	if they drop the pagan festivals of christmas and easter and maybe offered a saturday service	May 9, 2012 1:27 PM
184	If there was a good pentecostal church in my area	May 9, 2012 9:52 AM
185	I would like to find another church, and have tried one other, but am finding it difficult to be motivated at the moment. Being invited to a service, welcomed, introduced to people in the church would all be helpful. In a previous church new people were introduced to others, not just the first week, but as an	May 9, 2012 3:27 AM ongoing thing, and it really helped in getting to know people, and feeling that I was a part of the church family. Being hugged by people who took the time to get to know me and keep in touch with what was going on in my life was a blessing too, a hug from someone who has made no other effort isn't the same at all. Practical support would be wonderful, it seems that so many have no understanding of how hard it is to be responsible for everything alone, to be Mum and Dad. I have no family support, no friends outside the church since we moved, people in the church knew that, but I was still alone all week. So to be included in other people's lives would also be a blessing, not just to help me, but to help them too perhaps.

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

186	Friendlier welcome from people who are actually my age group. It's only the pensioners that are friendly and to be honest, they're not realistic long term friends.	May 8, 2012 11:32 AM
187	NOT THAT CAN THINK OF	May 8, 2012 9:00 AM
188	Someone to go with	May 8, 2012 1:11 AM
189	If the rain would ease off as my church is about 3miles from my home	May 7, 2012 3:06 PM
190	If I found a church which didn't live in its own cultural bubble, and which had more genuine community.	May 7, 2012 12:58 PM
191	More gender awareness amongst those in positions of leadership.	May 7, 2012 12:08 PM
192	1. If there was more of God there rather than man 2. If I found somewhere which truly models the new testament in it's fulness, not a pick n mix 3. If somewhere had meaty teaching and effective discipleship If you know of anywhere in London please let me know?!	May 7, 2012 8:22 AM
193	Hopefully my work load will reduce soon and I'll have no excuse. I just need to buck up the courage to go once and then it shouldn't take long to get involved, want to go and also get into the habit again - instead of working on SUndays	May 7, 2012 4:54 AM
194	Less boring	May 7, 2012 4:21 AM
195	Social and pastoral integration needs enhancing	May 6, 2012 10:50 PM
196	If they made it more up-beat and interesting, more lively and modern instead of old-fashioned.	May 6, 2012 1:24 PM
197	Knowing people who go	May 6, 2012 1:10 PM
198	Don't know really - I sometimes wonder if more pastoral awareness/care would be useful. No one seems to notice in either of the churches I usually go to if I'm missing from the congregation for weeks on end. No phone call, visit, are you ok? To know that I was missed would be nice.	May 6, 2012 11:55 AM
199	Not at the moment. I would like to attend but the churches I gravitate to are heavily into 'partnering' and 'tithing' which means a person has to be practicing in these areas before they can be trusted with certain responsibilities. Unless, of course, it's in an area of serving.	May 6, 2012 11:07 AM
200	finding a church that i fit into	May 6, 2012 9:56 AM
201	greater understanding by church leaders that not everyone is married.	May 6, 2012 3:39 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

202	if there could be a group for the single thirtysomethings	May 6, 2012 2:30 AM
203	If there was a better social core and opportunities for singles	May 6, 2012 2:01 AM
204	People adopting a more inclusive manner and embodying Christian principles	May 5, 2012 3:27 PM
205	getting to meet new people who are or who have been in same situation as myself	May 5, 2012 1:59 PM
206	Another person might provide the encouragement I need.	May 5, 2012 6:09 AM
207	would love to, work permitting	May 4, 2012 8:09 PM
208	A young church with good teaching.	May 4, 2012 3:48 PM
209	Honesty, reject homos and other serious transgressions stop all the theatricals	May 4, 2012 2:56 PM
210	Leaders who encourage.	May 4, 2012 2:24 PM
211	N/a	May 4, 2012 2:23 PM
212	No as I do,nt feel i need to be forced to go to church as I feel i can worship the Lord at home not just in church on a sunday	May 4, 2012 1:21 PM
213	The only thing that I could think of is If the Lord wanted me to and actually told me so. I do believe in miracles but this would not be something I would pray about. I am certain He knows me.	May 4, 2012 11:45 AM
214	Finding a church that felt like the right one in which to settle. I think I might have :-)	May 4, 2012 8:41 AM
215	by making it easier to meet more people (opposite sex and variety of ages: not age limited).	May 4, 2012 6:50 AM
216	If there was a recognition that most of us live our lives in the workplace - and need to be better equipped to serve God there (c.f. PCCs, church activities). If a church took on board the messages from LICC (London Institute of Contemporary Christianity), we'd start to harness the bulk of congregations.	May 4, 2012 6:50 AM
217	Boot up the bum	May 4, 2012 2:05 AM
218	A good question and a lot of this is down to the grace and sovereignty of God, but I long to find a fellowship which puts love and compassion at least on a par with "truth" and excludes control from the equation ! All too often, single / separated / divorced Churchgoers are seen as failures and inferior.	May 3, 2012 5:20 PM
219	Feeling more wellcome.	May 3, 2012 1:22 PM
220	changes in the work schedule	May 3, 2012 11:44 AM
221	- A change in expectations on single women - More sensitivity toward single people - A higher level of respect and value placed upon single people so that it matches that afforded to married people - More services/activities for relaxation/pleasure/ enjoyment/fun/social time for single people. Activities for single people provided by the Church should not predominantly revolve around getting them to engage in voluntary work for the Church. I found this	May 3, 2012 10:51 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

	was expected and was too difficult for me considering that I worked full time, I could not spend the rest of my time volunteering for the church because I did not have enough time to sort myself out and do the things I needed. How about some of the stiff the Church does for single people being about fun for them instead of just using them to work for free as virtual slaves for the Church? They don't expect this of couples married or not! Giving a single person something to do because you think they have too much time on their hands is firstly wrong and secondly it doesn't resolve their loneliness, need to relax and laugh and have fun and enjoy life purely for the sake of it. - The Church needs to be willing to listen and to be challenged because it's attitude to single people is disgusting. People need to be prepared to acknowledge this and to learn. Most of the time they are not bad people, they just lack experience and don't understand. This leads to ignorance and insensitivity. - Single people within the Church need to get real and accept that human beings are faluty and that if they are going to pair off with someone they will need to get into reality and stop expecting perfection because this will never happen. The only way is to accept each other, warts and all, even though it isn't perfect. This expectation of perfection is unrealistic and the Church should not encourage it. Mr or Miss Perfect do not exist. Only real human beings who have flaws and need forgiveness do!
222	yes make the sunday in the week days	May 3, 2012 9:49 AM
223	If the church would be more 'open' with fewer words!	May 3, 2012 9:23 AM
224	possibly.. but not sure what!	May 3, 2012 9:02 AM
225	I don't think it's about attendance, that's a tick box. Being real with God and people at all times and being open to the Holy Spirit, and not in a structured service, is where I'm at.	May 3, 2012 5:32 AM
226	if my friend would come with me	May 3, 2012 5:19 AM
227	different job	May 3, 2012 4:13 AM
228	if I found like-minded people going with me	May 3, 2012 12:44 AM
229	church networking maybe, i just feel the church as usual is behind the times and is full of elderly people or people elderly before their time due to an insular outlook,	May 2, 2012 6:38 PM
230	no	May 2, 2012 4:14 PM
231	Finding the right church. My church in my home country has over 40 thousand members, a church that holds 8 thousand at each service and is very charismatic. Churches in England seem very small and bland.	May 2, 2012 3:56 PM
232	Yes if I can find the right church when I feel comfortable	May 2, 2012 2:56 PM
233	Yes, purity of biblical teaching	May 2, 2012 2:32 PM
234	Few people my own age group or viewpoint	May 2, 2012 2:28 PM
235	being accept as a single women,and encouraged to join in the meetings of the church	May 2, 2012 1:52 PM
236	More welcomed, more single people within 10 years	May 2, 2012 1:51 PM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

237	'Meaty' teaching.	May 2, 2012 1:34 PM
238	If there were specific singles groups and we were recognised and not ignored and our needs were met.	May 2, 2012 1:23 PM
239	A local evening service	May 2, 2012 1:12 PM
240	not sure	May 2, 2012 12:55 PM
241	Someone to go with, someone to encourage me!	May 2, 2012 11:25 AM
242	If there was some way to link up with Christians that didn't basically take over Sunday.	May 2, 2012 11:03 AM
243	If I lived in a community rather than in open country and had more time eg retired	May 2, 2012 10:16 AM
244	Knowing the people who attend	May 2, 2012 10:04 AM
245	Loving fellowship	May 2, 2012 9:57 AM
246	n/a	May 2, 2012 9:57 AM
247	Finding someone to go with and a younger outlook and variety of things to get involved in	May 2, 2012 9:49 AM
248	No	May 2, 2012 9:29 AM
249	Not at the moment.	May 2, 2012 9:21 AM
250	yes	May 2, 2012 9:21 AM
251	finding a more suitable church	May 2, 2012 9:07 AM
252	Probably change of church	May 2, 2012 8:53 AM
253	?	May 2, 2012 8:52 AM
254	get my act together	May 2, 2012 7:51 AM
255	If I could find an "apostolic" church - a church where the Word of God is preached without compromise, where discipleship is seen as vital and where miracles and healings are the norm.	May 2, 2012 7:38 AM
256	single people in my age group	May 2, 2012 7:25 AM
257	Finding the right church	May 2, 2012 7:20 AM
258	Not at the moment.	May 2, 2012 7:14 AM
259	Not sure.	May 2, 2012 6:38 AM
260	No	May 2, 2012 6:37 AM
261	when my son comes home from university	May 2, 2012 6:34 AM
262	Evening or late afternoon service	May 2, 2012 6:30 AM

Page 9, Q1. Are there any circumstances which might encourage you to attend more?

263	Once my parents get support i will attend church.	May 2, 2012 6:25 AM
264	not really sure	May 2, 2012 6:25 AM
265	no, although i went to an outdoor servidce at Easter which was amazing...more "individual" approaches such as that would be tempting	May 2, 2012 6:22 AM
266	If a church was more active in the community Friendlier congregation Better services	May 1, 2012 7:00 AM
267	Younger people in reformed churches. Church groups activities and home groups for people who are in my age range and are also single.	Apr 5, 2012 3:57 AM